Walter Winchell of New York

Man About Town

The President, we hear, is dissatisfied with the State Dept. Dean Rusk and Chester Bowles are said to be editing their resignations... The Big Problem over at State is that top-appointed aides try to carry out White House wishes but the lower and firmly entrenched civil service hangers-on still operate under the Old Guard policy, and JFK can't get them to change... Despite all the talk about Allen Dulles being replaced at CIA, his agreement with the President (when he was asked to stay on the job) was that he would remain for only six months—and hopes to be a free man by the end of July...
